

Marketing & Communication Manager

Daфра Pharma International is a dynamic and innovative international pharmaceutical company that focuses on improving the health of people on the African continent. With a proven track record of nearly 25 years of unique and successful cooperation between the African and European continent, we bring reliable, high quality medicines within reach of people who need them the most. This requires a solid logistic, administrative and customer-friendly service and organization.

To strengthen this activity, Daфра Pharma is looking to recruit a Marketing & Communication Manager to join the highly motivated and professional Daфра team in the international head office in Turnhout, Belgium

Responsibilities

You initiate and implement inspiring and successful marketing and communication strategies in support of our African pharma business and market launches. You know better than anyone else how you can train, coach, engage and lead a team of 4 resourceful marketing employees at the Turnhout office. You monitor the market data and budgets closely. In close interaction with the Sales Department, you bolster our corporate image through targeted internal and external (digital) communications, packaging, advertising, promotional material, events and so on. You help them reach their goals and targets. With finance, the supply chain, business development, regulatory affairs and our pharmaceutical experts, you build a good collaborative relationship. You are meticulous in your reporting to the CEO with whom you work closely together on the global growth strategy.

Profile

You have a relevant and successful experience in a similar position, preferably in the pharmaceutical industry. Marketing and sales experience is essential; experience in working in/with Africa is a major asset. You are in a position to travel to Africa regularly (on a monthly basis). You have a good command of written and oral French and English. But most of all, you are a digital native. You are good at motivating and managing people: a manager who is customer oriented and who can work well together with others. You are disciplined and you have an ethical and loyal attitude to work. You understand the role of marketing in support to the sales oriented Daфра organisation.

Offer

At Daфра Pharma you will find an open and inspiring environment with plenty of opportunities for creativity and new ideas. Based in Turnhout, you will work in an international team of motivated professionals and have interesting contacts all over Europe and Africa. From your position on the front row, you can help to expand our human and social mission. Of course, you can count on an attractive pay package.
